Ad Preparation Charges May Apply

Terms & Conditions

Cancellation: Advertiser may cancel without cost or penalty within three (3) working days of purchase. A cancellation made after three days, up to established deadline date, will be subject to charges. After established deadline date, no cancellations may be made. Cancellation in mid-contract may result in advertiser receiving an additional bill for any discounts previously applied and unearned as a result of the cancellation. Advertiser should contact publisher at 620-225-0021 to verify issue deadline date.

Camera-Ready: Camera-ready to publisher means the copy is the exact size (or proportion) required. Any copy requiring "cut & paste" or modification procedures cannot be considered camera-ready. Ads must be submitted on disk or as a high-contrast copy. Publisher reserves the right to modify the ad for best printing quality. Acceptability of copy considered camera-ready is at the discretion of the publisher, who reserves the right to reject copy submitted as camera-ready and bill for any preparation required to reproduce the material to publisher standards.

Placement Preference: We encourage our advertisers to notify us if they have a preference where their advertisement is placed, and wish to assure them that we will comply with their preference whenever possible. However, we cannot guarantee placement.

Proof: Upon request, the publisher agrees to furnish a proof of the ad copy. A deadline date will apply, and publisher will assume proof is approved without changes if proof has not been returned by midnight on that date.

Size Changes: The publisher reserves the right to up-size an advertisement, if it is necessary to fit or fill space available, to the benefit of the advertiser and/or to enhance the appearance of the publication. The publisher agrees that, should that become necessary, no additional charges will apply.

Distribution: First consideration in distribution will be for issue advertisers. Initial delivery will be arranged; additional copies will be as available. The number of copies delivered will be at the discretion of the publisher.
